

Lindbergh Stunts
This Is Fire Week
Good News of Canals
British More Sober
By Arthur Brisbane

YESTERDAY morning Colonel Lindbergh left Miami at 9:05 a. m. and flew across the water to Havana, 341 miles, in two hours and fifteen minutes. Ten, including his wife, flew with him.

Lindbergh is a wonderful flier, one of this nation's most precious possessions. For that reason, it is too bad that he cannot be persuaded to exercise reasonable caution.

An accident to Colonel Lindbergh would be, as President Hoover has said, "A great blow to the affections of the United States."

It would also be a great blow to aviation of the United States, which perhaps interests Colonel Lindbergh more.

It would check the progress of aviation, seriously arousing great distrust.

When Colonel Lindbergh was stung recently at Cleveland he amused himself swooping downward, almost to the ground, at terrific speed, suddenly turning around.

A competent engineer watching the stunt said: "His plane weighs 2000 pounds. It is a terrific strain on wings and other parts, equivalent to changing the weight of the plane from 2000 pounds to 30,000 pounds."

Napoleon was not ashamed to send word to Paris that, for the sake of France and the army, he solemnly promised not to expose himself to danger unnecessarily.

Lindbergh, Napoleon of the air, might well do the same.

Selecting the anniversary week of the Chicago fire, President Hoover proclaims a Fire Prevention Week, urging "exercise of ordinary care on the part of our citizens."

He notes that "for two consecutive years fire losses in the United States have been decreased."

Life imprisonment, in every case, for arson might be justified, and would be justified, since arson incites willingness to commit murder.

Important (and neglected) is the task of fighting forest fires. Churches and airplanes should combine to solve that problem.

Mr. Good, Secretary of War, speaking with President Hoover's authority, says the country will spend hundreds of millions in addition to fifteen hundred millions already spent for harbor and river improvements.

The secretary says: "The Government will link together every part of the country with a chain of inland waterways, making one great artery of trade."

That's good news. The people want national improvement, have plenty of money and, fortunately, they have a President who is an engineer and understands problems involved.

He would rather attend to permanent enterprises and let somebody else attend to bootleggers.

FIREBOMB ESCAPE AFTER SETTING 3 INCENDIARY FIRES

1. Father of three small children. He was working on the pump when a coupling broke, striking him in the forehead. He was rushed to the Malden Hospital in a serious condition.

2. Capt. Philip J. McCarthy of Combination T, who suffered a severe artery on the left wrist. He is also at Malden Hospital.

The three fires in Malden and the three fires in the city were started by a man who had been in the neighborhood of the city for some time. He was seen by several witnesses.

RECOVERED OF STAKES. The first fire, which apparently was burning for more than an hour before being discovered, was in the yard of the Malden mill.

When the mill fire arrived on the scene the building was a mass of flames and flying embers were falling like rain from the wooden houses close by.

Fire Chief John Nichols immediately ordered a general alarm, bringing every piece of fire apparatus in Malden to the scene.

Satisfied with his efforts at the Malden mill, Nichols then went to the Malden Grain Co. building, where he found a second fire.

The burning hay bidden by the fire and darkness spread fire into the grain shed, where it found a ready fuel.

This fire was discovered while the Malden blaze was still at its height by Patrolman Corvino.

The second general alarm was sounded for this fire. This was at 4:10 a. m. and brought from Everett, Medford, Chelsea, and Revere.

The Medford and Everett firemen handled this fire while the general alarm was being sounded in Malden.

Three fires discovered within a short space of time in Malden while the Malden fire was still raging brought Wolcott firemen to Malden to cover the grain mill and Arlington in that city.

With no hope of saving the grain mill from destruction, firemen turned their efforts toward the property.

Fire Chief Quisley and the Everett fire officials to give the firemen aid in handling the fire.

When the roof of the grain mill collapsed a shower of sparks filled the entire district and Everett and Malden police officers immediately ordered residents in the district to leave their homes.

BLAZE IN LUMBER YARD. Many of the residents stopped long enough to rescue their personal effects, but were ordered to leave their homes.

While firemen were fighting the grain shed fire from atop adjoining buildings, their attention was attracted to another serious fire at the Hammond Garage.

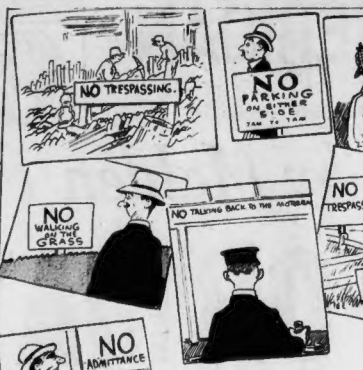

From the grain shed this fire was mainly visible. It was not until the fire had spread to the lumber yard that it was discovered.

By this time the Malden fire was practically extinguished and the firemen were rushing to the Hammond Garage to begin a new battle.

OPENING SINGLETON TRUMP
Contract Bidding
Same as above except that East on the third round carries the bidding to five Clubs.

Salient Points in Bidding
Auction: West bids one Diamond instead of No Trump because of his singleton Spade. North passing, East, though holding Diamond support, takes out the Diamond bid by a bid of two Clubs, preparatory to making some further bid or bid depending upon West's response to the Club take-out. East's bid induces his partner to bid two No Trumps. East then bids three Spades, thus clearly showing partner the two-suited or semi-two-suited character of his hand. West correctly reading the situation and himself holding a semi-two-suiter, realises that the combined hands may be playable to great advantage at a suit bid that as No Trump, and having strong support for his partner's Clubs and but a singleton Spade, expresses his preference by taking out the three Spade bid by a bid of four Clubs, which closes the bidding.

Contrast: The same considerations dictate the same bidding at a similar auction. West's bid of four Clubs, East's bid of five Clubs, East's bid of six Clubs, East's bid of seven Clubs, East's bid of eight Clubs, East's bid of nine Clubs, East's bid of ten Clubs, East's bid of INDICT BROKER IN KIDNAPING OF BANKER

Paterson, N. J., Sept. 21 (INS)—Surprise was caused in New Jersey financial circles today with the revelation that Harry Kuller, investment broker and real estate dealer, had been indicted by the Passaic County grand jury on charges of staging the kidnapping of Willard H. Elliott, former vice president and treasurer of the Home Trust Co. of Passaic, on June 28.

Six other indictments were returned, five of which are for money laundering, and one for perjury. They were Joseph Bongiorno, alias "Kid Steech" of Passaic, released last week in $10,000 bail as a material witness in the case; Angelo La-

Kuller was released in $25,000 bond, after entering a not guilty plea. He was charged he was victim of a "frame-up."

It was intimated that Elliott had refused, in his capacity as bank officer, to grant a large loan to one of the indicted men, and was abducted so the money could be obtained to finance a large brewery.

Failing to obtain the loan, the kidnapers released Elliott, according to reports.

Loughran a 99 to 1 Choice
Sharkey Laughs It Off
Campolo Ready for Scott
Great Battle Predicted

ORANBURG, N. Y., Sept. 21.—"Walter St. Dennis, the Garden's eight cylinder press agent, has tipped Jack Sharkey that the boys at the race tracks are placing their dough on Tommy Loughran in the Yankee stadium battle on next Thursday night," this from Mr. Boston.

"I made a pool at the tracks and out of 100 guys whom I asked who would win, 99 named Loughran," chirped St. Dennis. "And I bet the 99 blokes who picked Loughran to win are broke," declared Sharkey with a giggle. "Those birds who clutter up the race tracks don't even know what day of the week it is. That's why they play the races."

St. Dennis reported that along Broadway Sharkey was a 6-to-5 favorite. He pointed out that the reason Loughran is a choice with the race track folks is because he has been to the post three times since Sharkey walloped Stribling in the Battle of the Palms. They figure that Tommy is in the best possible condition and ready to maintain a smart pace from the going.

SHARKEY DISPUTES TOM'S WEIGHT

Mr. Boston asked St. Dennis what Loughran is weighing. "Up around 188 pounds," replied the reformed sports writer. "I'll give $1,000 for every pound Loughran weighs over 180," said Sharkey. "His best weight is around 175 pounds. He cannot increase his chances of winning by piling on ten extra pounds. Who's going to get the grand notes?" demanded St. Dennis. "I shall have a slight mortgage on the old homestead."

"Philadelphia Jack O'Brien" chirped Mr. Boston, "has picked Loughran to win. He maintains that Tommy is a marvelous ring general and that he will be a step ahead of Sharkey all the way."

"Don't O'Brien come from Philadelphia?" demanded Sharkey. "Yeah," said Mr. Boston.

"Guess that's also Loughran's hangout," went on Sharkey. Jack and Tommy are probably neighbors.

"I don't care if every race track tout in the world and all of the experts pick Loughran to win," declared Sharkey. "I know he's my man and that I'm going to hand him a shellacking. I feel the same way about the Loughran bout that I did in regard to my matches with Willie and Maloney. I'm in shape and know I'm going to win."

ANOTHER SHARKEY IN ACTION

Jack Sharkey, former bantam weight star, stopped on his way to the cottage of Victory Campolo.

"I'm going to drag the big fellow out of my arm chair and hustle him into the gym," said Sharkey. "He must stay a few more rounds before the Scott fight which is Monday night. 'How I'd like to see this big fellow come through. If Campolo can pull this Britisher, he'll cure Pugazy's headaches. The boss can forget all about promoting and match Campolo with the winner of the Sharkey-Loughran bout at Miami.'"

"Well, Campolo not to lead with his right if he ever meets me declared Sharkey.

"Don't forget to duck if he does," asserted the lighter Sharkey good naturedly. "This egg knocks over mountains with his right hand."

JACK TO WIND UP TUESDAY

George Lee former New England welterweight champion, bowed in and helloed the gang. He's on for the fight accompanied by Mrs. Lee. Lee figures Sharkey will win.

"But he's Sharkey's pal and so biased," said St. Dennis.

"When are you going to knock off training here?" queried Mr. Boston. "I'll box through Tuesday, go on the road Wednesday and motor into New York Thursday morning. I have decided to remain here until the last minute so that I shall be in the best possible condition for this fight. With the heavy weight limit just around the corner, I want to be prepared to put in the best fight of my career."

"The big fellow is talking like he did before he clashed with Dempsey," said St. Dennis as he walked away with Mr. Boston. "I have a strong feeling he is going to put up one of his great fights this time."

19 School Elevens Open Grid Season

NINETEEN schoolboy elevens will battle with gridiron opponents in the opening of the scholastic grid season today. There have been one or two games played previous to today but the real contests are on this afternoon's bill.

Nashua high of New Hampshire is by and by, but Everett should give the victors a "tuff" struggle. Nashua has weight to spare, but Coach O'Brien of Everett has been working on some very deceptive plays which should put Nashua. Fans will see a great Everett even this year, notwithstanding the many veterans lost to the team.

Pinkerton Academy will try out the defense team at Falmouth grounds, Medford. Only two veterans will be in the blue and white lineup. Shellman, quarter, and De Benedetti, tackle, Stagliano is a shifty halfback who will be watching. Jan Janian is a chunky and will develop into an excellent line plunger. Medford is being favored to win, largely because of Spillman's all-round back field ability.

Medford, under Coach Goodreau, is out to show what a new leader can do. Lynn General Electric Academy will be entertaining at the Pearl St. stadium. Fishman, quarterback, Tatrovich and Massett, in the Puckoby backfield, are smart ball carriers. Capt. Halonen at right tackle is hard to bulldoze on the defensive.

Harvill has veteran backs in good weight.

Loughran Set for Sharkey Go

Harvey's Lake, Pa., Sept. 21 (AP)—Five of the critical chances of sports writers and other experts, Tommy Loughran was to continue his training for his fight approaching bout with Jack Sharkey at the Nassau Coliseum.

He planned to take to the road early today and later off his work with a few mild rounds against his sparring mate.

The Philadelphia in his latest workout, before a large gathering, convinced those around him that he is in the best of health, the best of spirits, the best of shape and brimming over with confidence.

He worked two rounds apiece against Fred Caldwell, Harry Neal, Jack Wolf and Frankie Cawley and looked to be the same old Loughran despite his added weight.

Calahan has earned the nickname during his ring campaign in other parts of the country and when this 102-103 Lawrence youth steps into the ring to face the young phantom.

Batchelder Scores in 1st Harvard Game

SAM BATCHELDER, Harvard varsity back, scored the initial touchdown of the Crimson grid season today in a practice game between the varsity and second varsity elevens.

Batchelder took the ball on an lateral pass from Elmer Putnam and ran 33 yards for the score. Walter Harper, fullback, added the single point, running the ball.

Capt. Knott of the second varsity was quite pleased with the work of his group, which showed unexpected strength and plenty of drive and fight.

Traford, second team tackle, and Pierce, fullback, were prominent for the second varsity.

On the varsity, Joe Potter's defensive work was conspicuous when he defeated Mrs. Edward F. Shea of the Rhode Island Country Club, 2 and 1, in the 36-hole final round match at Agawam Hunt.

The new titleholder is the daughter of Harold E. Kenworthy, one of this State's outstanding golfers for many years and winner of the Rhode Island amateur crown three times.

C. City Club series, which ends today.

CLOSE FIGHT LOOKED FOR IN SERIES

By JOE CASHMAN
A MAN for man comparison of the Athletics and Cubs shows that there is very little to choose between the World Series rivals and that the even-money betting which prevails is sensible.

The Mackenies are superior at three positions. The Cubs have the edge at three others, while it is a toss-up as to which is the stronger in the other three.

Behind the bat at first base and in left field the Athletics have a decided edge. So do the Cubs at second base, right field and center field.

MICK COACH
RANK the new catcher in the game is an far ahead of Taylor and Gonzalez.

The Cubs' receivers, that no comparison is necessary. He is a great hitter, a great receiver, smart and fast. Neither of the Chicago backstops is anything more than a good workhorse.

The Athletics' advantage at first has isn't quite as good as behind the plate, but there is no question about it.

Jimmy Fox, the A's first baseman, is a considerably stronger batter than Charlie Grimm, who holds down the initial sack for and captains the Cubs and, while he is an excellent fielder as his rival when the latter is at his best, he should hold his own in the field in the series, as the Chicago leader doesn't figure to be anywhere near his top form after his season.

Each team has won three games and tied two.

Frank Mulkern, the separation of the series, who has twisted Rosalind in two victories and two ties and who lost one of his tie games by a home run which was of only two hits he allowed in the game, will pitch against Rosalind in the Holy Cross star, who won three games for the season, will pitch against Rosalind in the series.

Martin Wins Decision Over Graham in Slow Bout

LOCAL BOXER TAKES 10 ROUNDS

ANDY MARTIN, Hub featherweight, defeated Hugh Graham, bantam "buzz saw" from Utica, in a colorless 10 round bout at the fall opening of the Boston Garden boxing season.

The so-called "buzz saw" neither buzzed nor sawed. In justice to Graham, it must be said that fighting above his weight probably caused his poor showing. Martin won seven rounds out of ten, and there was no question about the decision.

There was more excitement over the announcement of the winner of the bout than over the battle itself. Jack Sheehan, veteran referee, informed Frank Ducey, master of ceremonies, something to Ducey, it must have sounded like "Graham," for Frank pointed to Graham's corner.

At this announcement, the crowd began to voice its noisy disapproval. Graham rushed off to his dressing room, thinking he had won. Sheehan, sensing the awkward situation, jumped into the ring, and raised Martin's arm, the sign of victory. For, it was apparent, a serious mistake had been made.

There was nothing about the contest that caused the crowd of approximately 7000 to erupt. It was not Martin's fault, however. He was willing to exchange blows, but his opponent dropped his hands in his sides and moved around like a dancing master.

In the skirmish that took place, Martin opened cuts close to both eyes and blood trickled from these wounds at various stages of the encounter.

In the second round Martin drove Shady's head between the top and lower lips.

Martin, at the opening of the third session, sent a terrific hook to body and Graham staggered. The Utican boxer complained to the referee that the blow had been low, but Jack Sheehan merely smiled and told him to proceed.

LOW left hand blow brought the battle between Larry Brinnells of Cambridge and Victor Livan, the middleweight champion of Italy to a conclusion in the sixth round. The boys were mixing fast and furious in a neutral corner when referee Sheehan called the contest off. He then sent the men to their corners.

EDDIE CURLEY, popular West End boxer, added another victory to his long list when he defeated Steve Smith of Bridgeport. Jimmy Brian of Revere, was awarded a decision over Johnny Gonzales of Los Angeles, Cal, in six rounds.

Vic Baldwin of Charleston, punched out a win over Sailor Flint in the second four rounder. Bald won the better part of the fighting during the greater part of the four rounds.

Princeton, N. J., Sept. 21 (1926)—Princeton's football team is gradually taking on a definite shape. Coach Bill Roper uses the same rotating outfit after each game.

The only change that has appeared in the replacement of Guard Van Schaick by Bill Menech.

Farmingdale, N. Y., Sept. 21 (1926)—A final scrimmage today and New York University's football squad will break camp and head back toward New York city. The initial workout on their own field will be held Monday afternoon.

B. C. Grid Stars Sought as School Coaches

THAT Boston College's 1926 championship football eleven consisted of smart gridlers seems to be the opinion of those who hire football coaches.

Capt. Warren McGuirk has been signed to assist at Malden high school. Al Weston is assistant to Daney Gilden, at Everett high school and Barmie Kilroy is head coach at St. Thomas high in Jamaica Plain.

Tom Smith, Don Sheehan and George Witzewski, other first stringers who graduated, probably will be seen in tutoring berths before long. Smith and Sheehan are going to play pro football this fall while Witzewski is finishing his course at B. C.

BOSTON COLLEGE today scored its first victory of the 1929 campaign by pounding out a 27-0 win over a stubborn freshman outfit at University Heights today.

TELLS OUT TO GREENEEDS K. O. RAWSON

Bob Mills, tall and towering, will seek attempt to ruin the ring career of Big Boy Rawson at the Arena Monday night, when they clash in the 10-round feature bout of the Arena A. A. show.

The farmer boy from Hill, N. H., has made thousands of friends here by his great gameness under fire in the four times and finally scored his way to a knockout victory in six rounds.

Mills has absolutely no fear of Rawson. He admits that Rawson is a puncher, but says that he also can punch a bit.

He points out that he had Rawson on the floor twice in his first bout before knocking him out, that in their second fight he had Rawson fight over the ropes, and that in the third round, he had Rawson on the floor twice in his first bout before knocking him out, that in their second fight he had Rawson fight over the ropes, and that in the third round, he had Rawson on the floor twice in his first bout before knocking him out.

Sharkey Promises to K. O. Loughran

By JACK SHARKEY

ORANBURG, N. Y., Sept. 21—The tremendous interest in the heavyweight boxing match in all parts of the world convinces me that the day of the million-dollar gate has not passed.

Jack Dempsey and myself drew the last million-dollar gate collected in New York. When we battled two years ago with no title at stake, the gate receipts amounted to $1,000,000, while the return match at Chicago hit the $2,600,000 mark.

The $100,000 gate for my bout with Young Stribling at Miami, Fla., last February proved that interest still is high in heavyweight matches. Ten thousand persons were unable to gain admission to the "Battle of the Palms" on account of the limited seating capacity.

Jack Sharkey

The gate would have topped $500,000 if the arena had been large enough to have cared for all those who wished to see the bout.

I look for another great show when I tackle Tommy Loughran at the Yankee Stadium on next Thursday night.

Bill Carey, president of Madison Square Garden Corporation, tells me he has received big orders for reservations from all parts of the country. New York, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania will furnish the bulk of the crowd.

Nobody can accuse me justly of dodging a legitimate rival, and I don't intend to change my mind of campaign.

NOTE: Beginning on Monday, Sharkey will cover a daily report of his training activities up to and including his own-story of the fight next Thursday night.

Don't miss these articles.

When Lou Tender battled Ermy Leonard in Jersey and later in New York, he and the whole hearted support of the state of Philadelphia. This backdrop will go to Loughran next Thursday night.

REPEAL OF BOARD OF TRUSTS LACK

By FRANK H. MELOON

Stock Street and other financial circles have heard many rumors regarding possible resignations or changes in the Federal Reserve board. On high authority, we are told no resignations or changes are near. The rumors probably arose from wonder in speculative circles aroused by the board's action in the financial district following the "thunderbolt" of a 1 per cent jump in the discount rate.

Although the board is a small body numerically, it includes a Boston banker, Charles Sumner H. Jones, Jr. None of the 7 men in the board have had to do with Mr. H. Jones, Jr. who was back in 1918. He was able to give a clear explanation of the board's action and the reasons therefor.

Charles S. L. Loring's Eastern railroad merger plan, which has been standing topic of discussion in railroad circles, in his initial proposal, President Loring had said that he had failed to include any of the New England railroads but did embrace the Lehigh Valley and the Erie Railroad. He also included the following: Lehigh Valley, Delaware and Hudson, Lehigh and Hudson River, Lehigh and New England, Central Railroad of New Jersey, Pittsburgh and West Virginia, Western Maryland.

The earlier plan included the Lehigh Valley and Erie, which were dropped out, along with Lehigh Valley and Wabash. The new plan includes, besides the principal New England railroads, the Rutland, the Buffalo and Susquehanna, Lehigh and Western, and Virginia, which were not included in the earlier plan. Central Railroad of Western was with the New Haven.

Announcements weekly of new high retained by brokers have almost invariably as followed by active issues selling higher. A morning, then, some high selling was on. Some high selling was on at times like the one on the dark to keep his course up with the loan figures tell only a superficial story.

On this subject, J. S. Roche & Co. say: "How soon brokers will reach a point to meet the necessities of a more vigorous campaign, it is difficult to say. It is seen, is debatable, but until evidence of a climax of this kind appears, there would be little incentive to dispose of high grade securities, showing upward earnings trend, which hold the possibility of increased disbursements."

A while ago brokers' loans of about two-thirds the present volume, seemed a point to meet the necessities of a more vigorous campaign. It is seen, is debatable, but until evidence of a climax of this kind appears, there would be little incentive to dispose of high grade securities, showing upward earnings trend, which hold the possibility of increased disbursements."

Weekly Federal Reserve statements gave fresh evidence of the tremendous accumulation of wealth resulting from national prosperity. Although brokers' loans are more than $2,000,000,000 higher than a year ago, members of the Exchange at Federal Reserve are now $2,000,000,000 less than a year ago. Last year, and Federal Reserve credit in use shows a decrease of $2,000,000,000. This testimony to the manner in which the creation of cash resources is reflected in the increase in brokers' loans caused the recent jump in the discount rate. The Federal Reserve has been making lateral borrowings last week to be ignored.

Weekly News Letter of the Parker Corp. tells agents for the incorporated investor's group of investment trusts. "Franklin Liquidation of some speculative assets during the past few weeks indicates that people are often willing to buy for the long run, but that their stock goes up in two weeks."

Sanford and Kelly, brokers, are associated with Jerome A. Newman. Newman has more than 100,000 shares of the 150,000 shares in the Merchants Trust Fund. Newman has turned in to Newman on his offer of 400,000 shares, which was made in quick action. About 2000 of these shares were deposited with Newman. Newman extended the time limit from September 1 to September 15.

Walter C. Lang, for several years assistant controller of Electric Bond & Share Co., has been named controller of the company in succession to E. Smith, who died September 1.

Forbes Sounds Warning to Bankers of America

By R. C. FORBES
New York, Sept. 21.—Wanted—Banking and financial leaders in every state.

Any state that fails to produce or attract able, aggressive, ambitious banking and financial leaders must expect to witness the passing of control of its banks into the hands of outsiders.

Between the foremost men of financial affairs in every state to select and take notice of what happens. If they fail to do so, they will discover that powerful interests will come from the outside and do the job.

Small, independent banks, and even larger banks, throughout the country are going to face the same economic conditions as the smaller retail stores.

Could all the facts be scanned it would be found that far more progress than the public imagination has already been made by very influential big-city bankers in acquiring an interest in other banks.

In the East and in the Middle West such affiliations have usually been kept secret. Indirect, rather than direct, methods have been used, mainly because the law strictly restricts the functioning of national banks.

In the Far West, following the daring scheme of the "million-dollar" organization which has already lined up control of some fifteen important banks in New York State is the biggest and boldest yet put taken in the East along lines that are destined to become common through the new banking system.

Editor's Note: This report is the first of the series of the daily developments in active stocks. The Boston Evening American takes responsibility for the editorial content of this column, but gives them to you for what they are worth.

New York, Sept. 21.—The market still appears to be in an uncertain trend, but it is unlikely that there will be any decided movement on either side in the short session today.

As was expected, new groups have been taken in hand to furnish market leadership and maintain public interest. The market has paid a substantial price for this leadership.

On the other hand, groups such as motors have been disappointing their supporters, and the market has been left with a heavy loss.

The index figures as measured by the averages of leading issues are hovering near the high point of the year. There apparently are plenty of buyers at this peak who feel that the market has considerable room to go.

There is still difficulty in determining which is the better—the buying or the selling.

THE POINTS OF MODERN HOMES

By BETTY BONNELL

THEIR seems to be simply no escaping the use of color in modern homes. Not that women of taste today really want to! And even though you may not have given much thought to it, I want to caution you that such apparently small details as hardware demand careful selection from the standpoint of color.

A careful study of a development on the part of enterprising makers of hardware who are now carrying out the most innovative scheme in your home is the selection of knobs and door pulls to help you in carrying out the color scheme in your home.

Most common of all colors in home hardware are the hues of the metals employed—brass, copper and iron in which the effects of corrosion and exposure are so cleverly imitated in order to give the effect of age and time-honored usage.

But not all that has been found to heighten the effect by applying polychrome colorings which are not found in the metals themselves, but which are trusted on the surface and combined with the metal with the most beautiful results.

The use of such colorings on the surfaces of the metal allows so many pleasing combinations of tints and shades that you will hardly forgive yourself if you don't see them first, before deciding what type of hardware you will use at the entrance to your home as well as each interior doorway.

The plan of varying tones to be had are startling in their decorative effect. While you can buy a uniform scheme for the house, no two pieces will ever be exactly alike, since the colorings are introduced by individual treatment and not through machine-like, unvarying methods.

It often surprises me to see how carefully a home is planned and how much care is given to every detail, only to see that the knobs and plates appear in cold, flat metallic surfaces, just as if they were put there as an afterthought.

When you look at the finished result, you really begin to appreciate that the matter of hardware is not so trivial as it once seemed; on the contrary, it is a highly important element in the decorative theme of the home, and one that should be given careful attention.

Standards Work After several years of preparation, the New York Building Congress has issued its "Standard Specifications" for building construction work. The mechanical specifications which are being prepared, "Standard Specifications" are composed of two parts, Part A and Part B, which are explained by the New York Building Congress in its "Journal of the American Institute of Architects."

Part B. Mr. Snook says, "contents of clauses governing the quality of materials and workmanship in the printed standard form of contract."

Colonial Type Popular in Homes The Massachusetts Department of Labor and Industries in August made its usual monthly canvass of building contractors, securing payment for the week ending August 31, and the average earnings per man for the week were $23.15, or 11.9 per cent. increase over the week ending August 24, when the average earnings per man were $20.68.
